

X Windows

If you can make X-Windows work on your system, then I suggest you have your system set up to allow X-Windows. Windows users may need to run something like Xming or CYGWIN in order to get a server. If you are doing ssh from the command line then you will probably need to start ssh with `ssh -X` so that you can run X. If you are on Putty or Bitvise you will need to enable X-11 tunneling through ssh.

10.005 Hosts

1. What is the purpose of the `hosts` file?
2. What is the path to the hosts file on the computer system you are using?

Unit 10_010.005 – sshKeyExchange